

error bars are the authors' printed standard errors, reproduced as given; several are zero and several are implausibly large (see Supplementary Methods); the dotted line is the physical bound of the measurement